In particular, eligible students who are STEM majors, as well as those who are undecided in their majors, will be provided with information and advisement about the LSAMP programs.
- Provide effective academic and retention advisement to LSAMP Scholars to help them become integrated into the university community and address academic, personal, social, financial, emotional, developmental, cultural, and ethnic issues that may affect the academic performance and retention of underrepresented students in STEM.
- Provide bridge or early arrival programs to entering first-year underrepresented students that focus on social integration and academic enrichment activities in STEM fields.
