

Mission Statement—Department of Counselor Education

The University of Georgia, Department of Counselor Education, is dedicated to providing a high-quality, evidence-based education to students in the Department of Counselor Education. We are committed to preparing graduates who are prepared to work in a variety of settings, including schools, community agencies, and mental health centers. Our graduates will be equipped with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary to be effective counselors and to make a positive impact on the lives of others.

The Department of Counselor Education is committed to providing a high-quality, evidence-based education to students in the Department of Counselor Education. We are committed to preparing graduates who are prepared to work in a variety of settings, including schools, community agencies, and mental health centers. Our graduates will be equipped with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary to be effective counselors and to make a positive impact on the lives of others. We are committed to providing a high-quality, evidence-based education to students in the Department of Counselor Education. We are committed to preparing graduates who are prepared to work in a variety of settings, including schools, community agencies, and mental health centers. Our graduates will be equipped with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary to be effective counselors and to make a positive impact on the lives of others.

The Department of Counselor Education is committed to providing a high-quality, evidence-based education to students in the Department of Counselor Education. We are committed to preparing graduates who are prepared to work in a variety of settings, including schools, community agencies, and mental health centers. Our graduates will be equipped with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary to be effective counselors and to make a positive impact on the lives of others. We are committed to providing a high-quality, evidence-based education to students in the Department of Counselor Education. We are committed to preparing graduates who are prepared to work in a variety of settings, including schools, community agencies, and mental health centers. Our graduates will be equipped with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary to be effective counselors and to make a positive impact on the lives of others.

8. Define the digital and application knowledge and skills related to each and generalise

Describe the clinical and health communication expected to be the focus of the project:

9. Define the digital and application of data and clinical digital clinical and health communication and the ability to engage effectively, ethical clinical and health practices across stages of client care

Describe the health communication expected to be the focus of the project:

10. Define the digital and application of data and clinical digital health communication and the ability to engage, assess and implement ethical health communication for P-12 students

Describe the clinical and health communication and health communication expected to be the focus of the project:

11. Define expected levels of personal digital skills and the leadership skills and self-care, personal and self-awareness, and ethical behaviour